let's look back. . .

Laok back over the year which is now nearing completion . . .

it has been a year of new experiences for all of us,

. . . a year of expansion for Wingate College, a year filled with work and play.

We of the "Gate" staff have tried to look at "1959 at Wingate" and to present to you something of life at Wingate as we have lived it and loved it.

It is our wish that the "Gate" will keep this year vividly in your mind.

May it refresh your memory of the many events which have meant so much and of those people who have become so dear to you.

Whenever you open the "Gate", may it produce in you a feeling of nostalgia caused by this meaningful year at Wingate College.

New library under construction . . . a symbol of the change and progress taking place at Wingate.

We embarked upon the sea to achievement through greater knowledge and understanding on the first day of our college careers. We suffered the disappointment of deflated egos when we realized that there were other people in the world who could do things as well as we, or a little better. We faced and conquered personality conflicts. We were tasting college life—the bitter and the sweet, praying that circumstances would deal kindly with us. We were trusted to make decisions, knowing that adulthood demands self-confidence.

We made new friends and met new instructors. We were introduced into a new society. These new friends understood our problems, shared our thoughts of ambitions and aims, sacrificed their wants to fulfill our wishes, and helped us establish moral codes and ward off the temptations of a materialistic society. We were led to a deeper understanding of our Heavenly Father as our plans for the future were directed toward desirable goals.

Swimming, playing tennis, or just a relaxing chat . . . take your choice during the summer months at Wingate.

Teachers found that we possessed boundless energy and terrific lung power. Eagerly we participated in the extra-curricular activities of our choice and supported friends in others. How proud we were of "our" football team when it went to Texas! We thrilled to the dramatization of "A Man Called Peter", "The Man", and "Our Town", presented by the dramatics club. We elected class officers, who led us through a successful year, filled with hard work and an abundance of fun.

Snow! It fell and we stared with wonder—then we began to duck from flying snowballs!

We came to understand God's creation more fully through the revealing of nature's mysteries in our science classes.

"Hurrah for Wingate! Someone's in the stands yelling Hurrah for Wingate!" We cheered our capable basketball team as it claimed victories and dribbled victoriously through the tournaments.

We enjoyed the new exciting experience of living in dormitories. We had long "bull sessions" and after midnight discussions with our dorm mates. Remember the night the holls resembled the Ponomo Conol? There was a spirit of friendly rivalry between dorm floors.

At night the mouth-watering oromo of hot pop-corn filled the dorm holls and floated outside.

Remember the indescribable feeling of stepping into a cold shower? Birthday shower?

How the girls scrambled around before on 8:00 o'clock class getting rooms in order for room check. Did you ever sweep dirt under the bed or hide your trash basket in the closet? Did you ever forget to change your bed linen on Thursday?

In Cannon Hall the House Council met every Monday night to issue "compuses" for misdeemeanors. How quiet the holls grew as the names of the girls who were to spend the sixty-one week-end hours in solitude were announced on the Public Address System. There was a happy use of the P. A. System, also. For week-end night dates, the girls were called down to the lobby, through the P. A. System, to meet their favorite beaux. The minutes of waiting seemed like hours!

Martha leads choral group in rehearsal . . .

Learning...

How festive the dorms looked during homecoming celebrations. Remember the winning Bivens-Perry decorations, Alumni's giant football player, and the whole and mermaid on top of Connan Hall?

The girls also decorated their room doors for Christmas. The palm tree on the winning door was certainly realistic.

At play, in the girls' dorm, gossip is the topic; relaxation, the issue at hand for Grace and other Freshmen.

Planning and dreaming . . . anticipating that "big" weekend . . . such thoughts fill the minds of Dione and other first-floor girls.

Spring come in all her glory to Wingote campus. Seeing fresh green plants peeping from the damp earth gave us the courage to press on after a hard winter's work and the grind of semester exams.

"In Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of baseball!" Baseball fever was in the air. The familiar sound of the crack of the bat as a hard ball met the flying ball, the satisfying sound of a speeding ball of white landing hard on an outfielder's leather glove—gave the realization of spring.

We realized that we were not waiting to live—we were living. We were meeting life with thoughts of our own as we journeyed toward adulthood.

Students to learn by discussing their varied daily experiences

For coffee break or pepsi time, students find that the "Rec" offers a chance for fellowship—and food.

"Hooray for Wingote."

Students scurry back to the Burris Building after chapel—a period for meditation and reflection.

The path led to victory through determination, cooperation, and fairness; it led to distinction through quality; it led to revelry and merrymaking through wholesome fun; it led to development and sociability through participation in varied fields of interest; it led to a future built on a foundation of incomparable experience and a fortified faith in God.

We leave Wingote having been "nourished by fruits of knowledge and cradled in the arms of friendly society."

Behind us close the doors of immaturity and narrow-mindedness. In front, open the doors of unknown infinity and the challenge to live better than past generations.

When we come to Wingate he was here, a teacher, counselor, and friend to all. He helped us with his facile hand and guided us through times of need. A man of unceasing energy and deep understanding, Dr. Smith became president of Wingate College in the fall of 1953. Under his guidance and leadership, the college has experienced steady growth and has received wide recognition. It is the desire of Dr. Smith and the entire faculty that Wingate College give to students a foundation that will enable them to develop a sound philosophy by which to live, a foundation that will insure for them a happy and successful future. It is through the foresight of and the example set by Dr. Smith and other college leaders that Wingate has gained its present position in the field of Christian education.

Credit for much of the success of the year 1959 at Wingate College must be attributed to the Student Government. At no school is student government on easy or a perfect thing, and at Wingate there are often failures and disappointments. But the students here, led by these whom they have chosen, demonstrated the desire and the potentialities to develop a working student government. This group of students directs campus elections, sponsors social events, including Saturday night movies, and generally strives to develop wholesome attitudes and closer student-faculty relationships.

The three officers of the Student Government are elected by the Student Body in the spring of each year. Other members of the group are included by virtue of their having been elected to a major office on campus. All dormitory presidents and class presidents are members of the Student Government. The Dean of Men and Dean of Women serve as sponsors and ex-officio members.

It is only through diligent work by these people that this book is being presented to you. Many hours of work and worry have gone into this volume. Such cries as "Where's that picture?" "What can we use to fill up that space?" or "I've typed that twice already." could be heard frequently. All of that work, however, will be rewarded if you, the students and faculty, are satisfied with the "1959 Gate". It is then that our goal will be met.

The Baptist Student Union is the "parent" religious organization on the campus and is the key link connecting the college student and the church. Membership is gained by joining the Wingate Baptist Church or any of the religious organizations on the campus. These organizations include the Sunday School, Baptist Training Union, Ministerial Association, and Young Women's Association. Participation in other B. S. U. activities, such as Singers, Morning Watch, Listen, the Extension program, and Vespers, helps students gain a mature and intelligent understanding of Christian beliefs and practices.

The highlights of the year for the B. S. U. is the week designated as Religious Focus Week. Sponsored by the B. S. U. and conducted by students and visiting ministers and laymen, this is a week of special services, seminars, dormitory discussions, and individual conferences. Other special events for B. S. U.ers include conventions, the kickoff party, and this year a pre-school workshop.

These activities and others sponsored by this organization are guided by Miss Betsy Brooks McGee of the faculty, Margie Edwards, president, and the Executive Council, composed of representatives from all religious organizations.

"Mirror, Mirror on the wall, Who's the fairest of them all?"

Not the mirror, but the students of Wingote College have selected as their fairest, Miss Borboro Triplett. She will reign over the May Day festival this spring. Miss Triplett is active in many phases of college life, but she is especially outstanding in religious organizations such as B.S.U. and Y.W.A., of which she is president. She is a beauty, not only in looks, but in character, in her actions, in her associations with her fellow students.

Heading the list of attendants to the queen will be her Maid of Honor, Miss Elizabeth Rotliff. Miss Rotliff is a sophomore counselor, an assistant in the Rec Hall, a sports enthusiast, a student very much concerned with preparing herself for the future. Because of her dependability and her appealing personality, she is very popular among the students of Wingote.

Wingate was very fortunate this year in getting two new coaches in the persons of Mr. Dwight Shae and Mr. Bill Cannell. They did an excellent job with our team this year, in leading it to the state championship and a bowl game. The football future at Wingate certainly looks bright with these two fine coaches at the helm.

1958 Bulldogs experience victorious and exciting season,

The "Bulldogs" this year started the season off with an exciting 25-0 victory over Lees McRoe. The following week they romped to a 33-0 win over Mars Hill. Arch-rival Gardner Webb fell victim to the on-rushing "Bulldogs" 25-0. Lees McRae put up a more stubborn resistance the second time but was defeated 25-12. Chowon was next on the schedule and they fell before the power-laden Wingote team 45-12. On a return engagement, Mors Hill made things tougher for Wingote but was defeated 12-0. For the second time Gardner Webb was defeated, this time by a score of 25-14. Undefeated Fork Union dealt Wingote their first loss of the season in a very thrilling contest decided in the last few moments. The score of this one was 21-20. The "Bulldogs" received an invi-

The Wingate "Bulldogs" found the path to victory through teamwork, determination, and good sportsmanship.

The season ended with the "Bulldogs" in second place in the conference with a game separating them from the first place team.

The team added much luster to their record by winning the conference tournament. This forced a play-off between them and North Greenville to determine who represented the conference for the

The facts that baseball is a spring sport and that our annual deadline is early in the spring, make it almost impossible to include a great deal about that sport in our yearbook. Because the baseball teams at Wingate have been unusually successful in recent years, it is especially regrettable that they are not fully represented here. The 1958 team, which is pictured above, completed the season in third spot in the conference. For three seasons prior to 1958, the "Bulldogs" were state champions. The prospects for the current season are equally bright. With such returning veterans as Adger Ray Perry, Bill Furr, Richard Money, and Don Morrison, teaming with a host of new men, the present team anticipates a successful season. Under the auspices of Mr. Jack Perry, a native of this community and an alumnus of Wingate College, the 1959 team will undoubtedly bring honor and recognition both to Wingate College and to the team itself.

Acknowledgements

There are many people who have aided the annual staff in this publication. We cannot begin to thank each of you individually. However, there are some persons whom we must acknowledge publicly for the service which they have rendered to us. Dr. Smith, Mr. Herrin, Mr. Williams, Mr. Cox, and others here in the college staff have very willingly advised and aided us in solving problems which we found too difficult to handle. The students and faculty members cooperated without fault in having pictures made and in relinquishing valuable time in order to help us in some way. To all of you people, we say a very sincere "Thank you."

For the photography and excellent cooperation, we wish to thank Curry's Studio in Gaffney, S. C. To Delmar Printing Company in Charlotte, N. C., we are grateful for the part they played in printing this yearbook.

Our greatest thanks, however, must go to Mrs. Marjorie Bartlett, of Charlotte, N. C., who serviced our book . . . for her invaluable assistance in helping us plan the layout and copy, in advising about pictures, in encouraging us when we very badly needed it, and in helping us in many other ways. Without her, this book would have been impossible.
